ATOMIC FISSION

curriculum

English

From Beowulf to Pygmalion, the English IV students struggled with critical analyses and creative themes. Through the maze of reading in English III and those ever-loving notebooks, the juniors studied American literature and "college" grammar. Mrs. Purdie led the sophomores from the Shakespearean era, including Julius Caesar, to the present age, including John Steinbeck and Truman Capote. In their introduction to high school English, the freshmen received a sample of the assignments to come in the future.

Mrs. Dixon lectures to an English IV class.

English III students enjoy the overhead projector.

Mrs. Goodman instructs the English I students.

Mrs. Purdie explains a detail to a disbeliever.

Foreign Language

Now that four years of French are offered, students eagerly signed for a new and interesting course. Little did they know that in the fall, there would be two "imported" teachers to educate these innocent pupils. Mrs. Howard and Mrs. Tew have truly brought French to Dunn High School.

Mrs. Tew used lively characterizations in order to explain words en français. With hardly any English spoken in her class, Mrs. Howard has prepared her French II students with a background desperately needed for college. They can never realize the benefits they have given us through a year of struggle and toil—on both sides.

French II students listen intently.

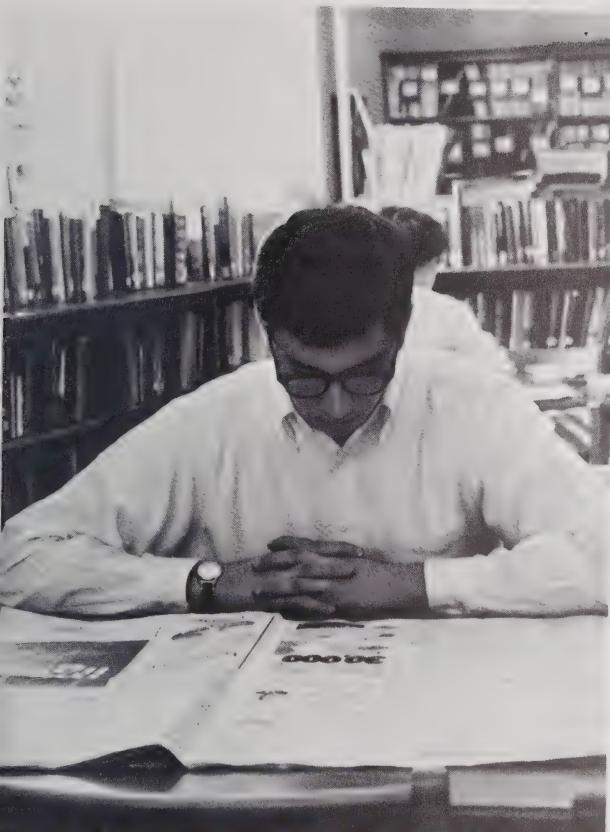

The recorder is a useful device.

Mrs. Tew discusses French with a cooperative student.

Bill Cunningham investigates world affairs.

Library

With new facilities, the county has equipped the library to fill every need of the students. The selection of new books and resource materials shows the devotion of Mrs. Pat Myers, librarian, to the students. The quality and size of our library create an air of efficiency and thoroughness to any visitor and aid the students in producing masterful and original themes and term papers.

Library assistant helps a book worm.

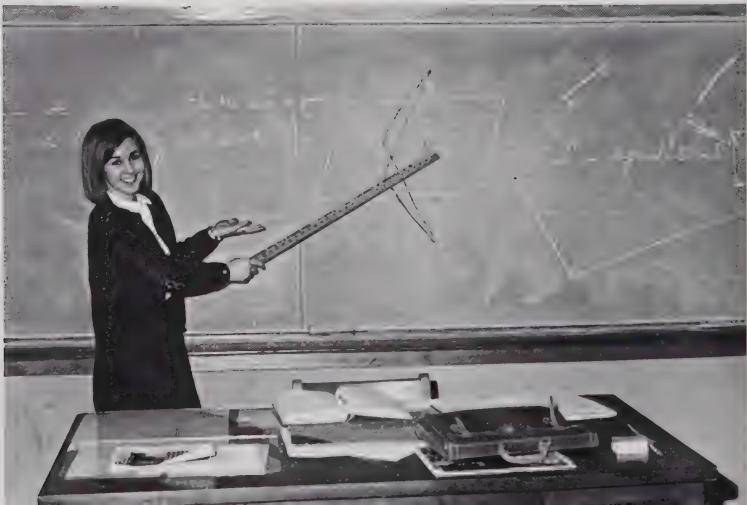

Jim Byrd puts his knowledge of Algebra I to use.

"Geometric figures are an integral part

Sharon tries to relate her proof to fellow students.

Mathematics

of Math IV," states Kathy Watts.

The New Math has brought Dunn High School from the light into the dark! Its confusing Algebra I with word problems and equations has stumped many a student's progress. Geometry has faced the blackboards in a duel to the death and it lost! The proofs and postulates are methods by which the enemy may attack.

The last step in the learning process is Math IV. Mrs. Pridgen's brilliant teaching methods have led the seniors through a year of useful, interesting math, including Pascal's Triangle and trigonometric functions. The math students have been led along a twisted road for the prize of a life-time—understanding and using math in everyday life.

Tommy Godwin uses the binomial theorem in working a problem for Vicky Tripp.

Consumer Math consumes the time of students.

Science

With an introduction into the world of science, physical science gives freshmen a taste of things to come. Then biology and chemistry let them really know if they like science. Mr. Eldridge's physics class this year worked hard in the laws of chance and the principles of photography. A good, basic foundation in the natural sciences is offered for those who will learn.

Debby Culbreth finds the fine things of life.

A biology student discovers the microscope.

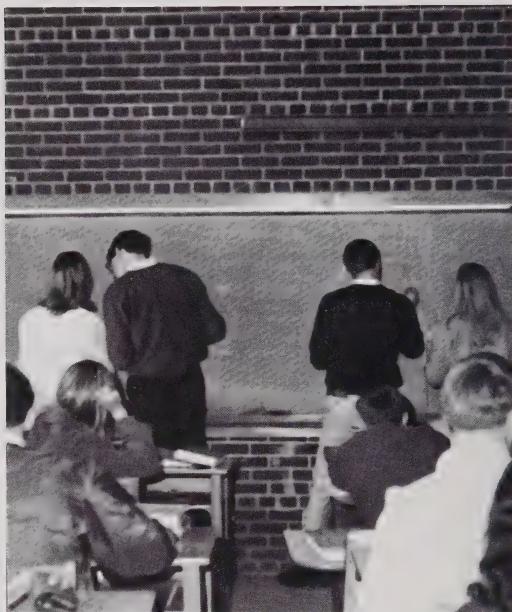

Physical science students inspect model rockets.

This is the physics class in one of their more pensive moments.

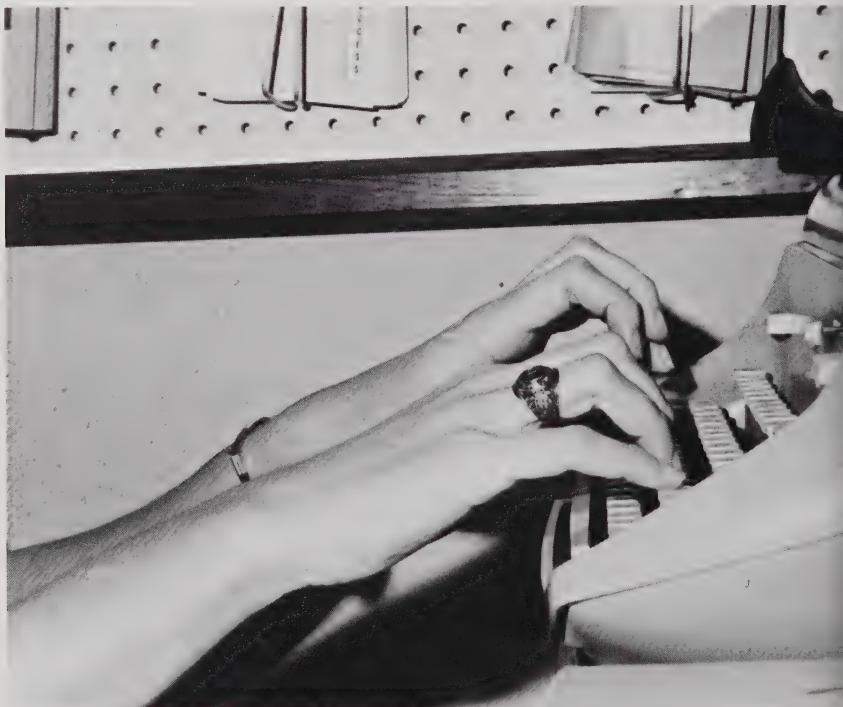

Business math stumps students.

Business

The business department of Dunn High offers many phases of instruction. Led by Mrs. Wilson and her Typing I classes, many students direct their talents to shorthand, bookkeeping, and basic business. Mr. Jackson instructs students on the complex function of balancing a check book. Shorthand with Mrs. Woodall is a very interesting class. It is sometimes referred to as our second foreign language.

Flying hands make many errors.

Shorthand students use the dictaphone.

Judy Register fills out her book-keeping form.

Karene and Celia lead the altos.

Music

The musical atmosphere at Dunn High has changed this year as Miss Ann Barbee took the responsibility of teaching the school's musically-minded students. The chorus performed in assembly, the Christmas concert, and the spring concert.

The Dunn High Band started off the 67-68 term with varied arrangements of football halftime shows. After the marching season, the band became a concert band in preparation for the Christmas concert. In the spring, the band entertained many interested people with a lawn concert.

In addition to the standard class, several of the band members served as a spirited "pep band."

Concentration creates beautiful harmony in the brass section.

Miss Barbee leads the band in practice.

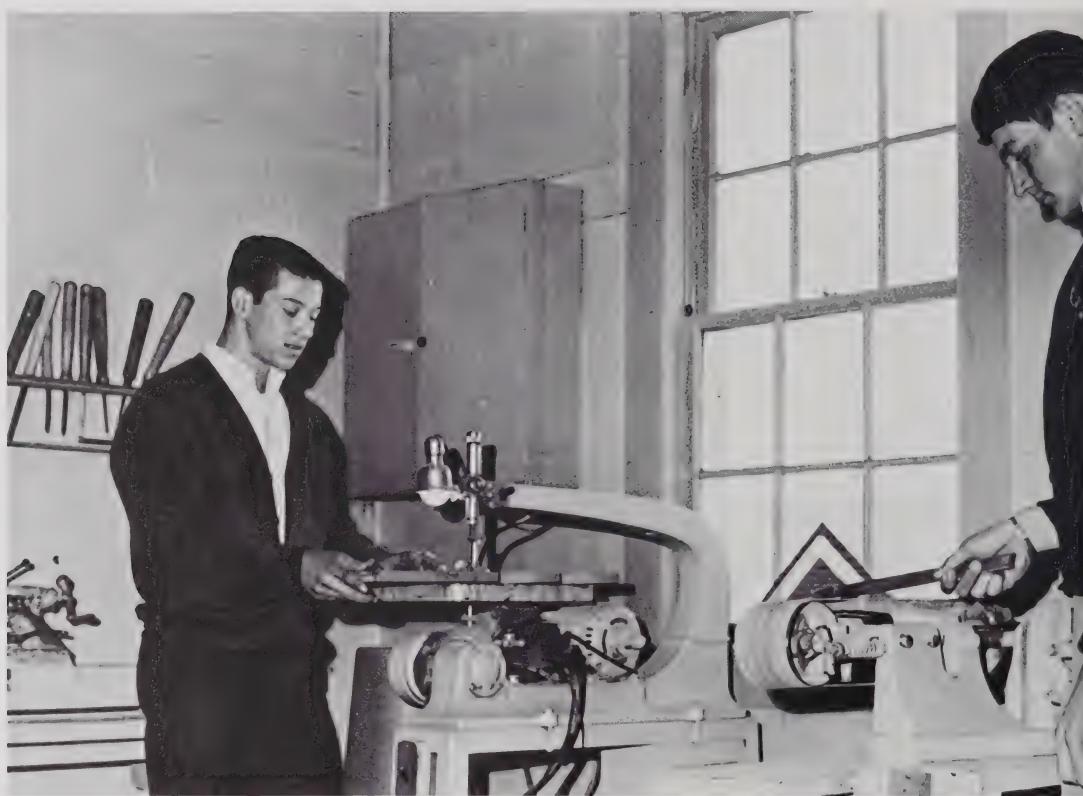

A flute player carries the harmony.

Jimmy leads the bass section in chorus with exuberant expression.

Terry Miller and Jerry Brewington put the machine shop to good use.

The Home Ec girls put their talents to a test.

Careful reading of directions brings good results in Home Ec II.

Vocational Arts

Starting with Miss Bennett in Home Ec I and the rubber-fried egg, home economics advances to Mrs. Stroud's Home Ec IV and the spring fashion show. Under the supervision of our two able home economics teachers, Dunn High attempts to produce the ideal modern homemaker.

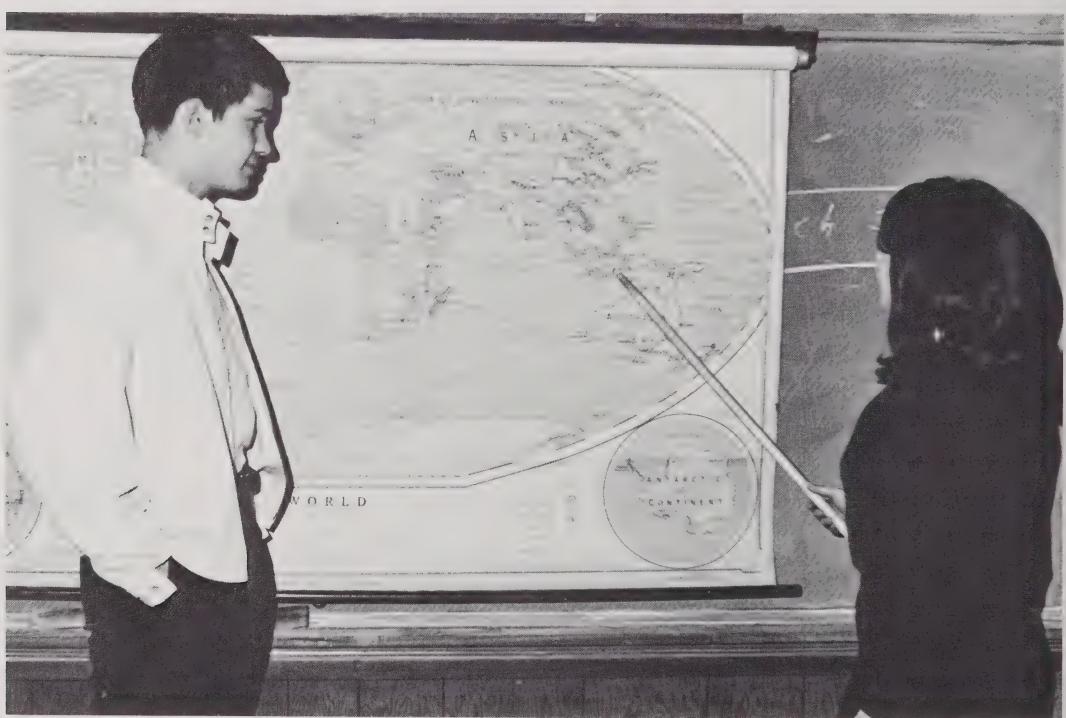

The four classes in vocational agriculture provide excellent instruction on the finer points of agriculture. With Mr. Osborne as their leader, the boys become outstanding examples of the future farmers of America.

Ag I boys help clean the school by removing debris after the ice storm.

Those Econ-Soc. tests really give students' minds a workout.

Charlotte helps Andy in World History.

Social Studies

Mr. Gene Driver led the juniors through the rugged trials of American History, accompanied by his tests. Coach Tart filled one of his classes with social studies in which he tried to educate the brilliant mastermind athletes. The World History students profited from Coach Bradham's numerous attempts to have a real class each day, with the Socratic method. Coach Varney once more taught his freshmen the knowledge of civics. In general, the social studies department of Dunn High busies itself always, and the learning process is enjoyable for the students.

Bill Wade explains basic principles of citizenship in civics.

Steve Herring puts his research into action in U.S. History.

D.E. students discuss principles of salesmanship.

Distributive Education

"Work! Work! Work?" is the cry of the distributive education student. Using examples of sales technique, Mrs. Snipes molds her students into great business leaders. The "fearless leader" has most interesting discussions in her classes on jobs. Only one question remains—is work her class, or is her class work?

Mrs. Snipes gives some personal instruction.

A D.E. student in action.

Freshman boys are put through the paces.

P.E. II boys spend their time in activity.

Freshman girls concentrate in Health.

Physical Education

Health and Physical Education is an outlet into which students may channel all their excess energies. Mrs. Rogers keeps her P.E. girls on the move with soccer, volleyball, and basketball, along with strenuous exercises that do wonders for those hairdos they took so long to fix. Coach

Bradham and Coach Tart keep the boys hustling in P.E. I and P.E. II. Everyone knows that the football and basketball players have the coaches' first attention. The students have taken advantage of the new elective and have shown the school that it is appreciated.

Student Council

The Student Council of 1967-68 followed the theme of service and student activity. It sponsored College Day, Twirp Week, and a Pancake Supper. ZIP code directories were sold, and a donation was made to the Rescue Squad in appreciation of their work during the ice storm. The Council staged a community clean-up day in conjunction with the National Student Council.

Echo

The annual staff takes a rest break from working on the third deadline.

Being the best has been the aim of the 1968 Echo staff. The spring and summer saw ad sales. Under the able leadership of head business manager Retha Godwin, a record number of ads were sold. Another job faced the business managers at the beginning of school—the sale of down payments. Here another record was set—nearly 500 down payments were sold.

In October the annual was laid out, and then came the deadlines. From December 20 until the last item was mailed on March 15, the Echo's condemned few put together this book.

Distributive Education Club

The DECA Club is for all students taking Distributive Education in the school. As a financial project, they sold chocolate candy bars to the school. The members also participated in most of the school activities, such as Stunt Night.

Teresa Neighbors, Belinda Jones, Mary Ann Williford, Ronnie Pope, Elizabeth Core.

Library Club

The Library Club, open to all high school students, gives members valuable experience in the library sciences. Mrs. Myers, the sponsor, has helped the members understand more clearly the smooth operation of a library.

Senior Concession

Stage Crew

The Stage Crew has proved to be an invaluable part of Dunn High School's life. The members prepare the stage and auditorium for each assembly, and they clean up afterward. The Stage Crew is an essential factor that makes our assembly programs run smoothly. It was chosen Club-of-the-Year for 1967 in the first annual award by the Student Association.

Mr. Hugh Jackson, Sponsor; Wallace Tew, Stage Co-Manager; Steve Nester, Stage Manager.

Chorus

The Chorus has been a very active group this year. Its first appearance was an assembly program at the high school using popular music. These selections included "More," "The Calypso Song," and "Madame Jeannette." Performing along with the bands, the Chorus presented several carols at the annual Christmas concert. The group also performed at the Anderson Creek and Wayne Avenue Schools.

Ronald Chance, Vice-President; Karenne Parker, Secretary-Treasurer; Jimmy Stanley, President.

Majorettes: Gail Taylor, Head; Sterling Bryan, Belinda Johnson, Debbie Tart, Mildred Uzzle, Betsy Coats, Meda Lide Doffermyre.

Jane Currin, Mary Ann Welborn, Mary Sue Godwin.

Band

The Band provides an opportunity for students to learn something about music. The majorettes, also band members, add color and variety to many of the band's functions. The pep band performs at the basketball games.

Band Officers: Mitchell Bass, Vice-President; Gail Taylor, Chief Majorette; Wayland Jones, President; Belinda Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer; Steve Herring, Drum Major.

Painting scenery is the job facing Jenny Wade, Karene Parker, Betty Jo Dixon, and Becky Wade.

Camilla Snipes and Bobby Weber enjoy the intermission party.

Junior - Senior

"Tender Is the Night" was the theme of the Junior-Senior Prom on May 12, 1967. The scene in the gymnasium was an ancient Roman garden, created by the junior class. The In-Men provided the music, and the grade parents entertained the students with an intermission party in the Wayne Avenue cafeteria. Most of the tired but happy juniors and seniors who attended left early Saturday morning for a carefree weekend at the beach.

Dancing the night away are Larry Pate and Rebecca Jernigan.

Homecoming Queen

Belinda Johnson

Co-Captain Jimmy Stanley sponsored Belinda Johnson, the 1967 Homecoming Queen.

This year at Homecoming, each of the ten senior football players sponsored a varsity sweetheart. Belinda Johnson, sponsored by Jimmy Stanley, was chosen Homecoming Queen by popular vote of the student body. During the impressive halftime ceremony, she was crowned by her sponsor.

Varsity Sweethearts

Students' spirits were high all through the Homecoming week. Clubs were putting together skits for the big mass pep rally to be held Friday afternoon, October 20. Even though the Greenwaves lost a tough battle on the gridiron to the Lumberton Pirates, the game proved to be a thriller.

The finale of Homecoming was the crowning of Belinda Johnson as the 1967-68 Homecoming Queen. She was sponsored by co-captain Jimmy Stanley.

After the game the annual Homecoming Dance was held in the Wayne Avenue cafeteria. Music was provided by the Kays.

The varsity cheerleaders lead the student body in a spirited cheer at the mass downtown pep rally.

College Day

On November 15, 1967, seniors from Harnett County schools participated in College Day at the Dunn First Presbyterian Church. Both juniors and seniors attended from Dunn High, the host school.

Chairman Mariah Johnson secured representatives from fifty North Carolina colleges and appointed a Dunn senior to serve as student host for each. Students from throughout the county had a chance to talk with the representatives, pore over yearbooks, and get college applications and catalogues.

Junior Stunt Night

The conspirators hail Caesar in his triumphant entry.

Stunt Night, a smashing success, was presented by the class of 1968 on February 7, 1967. Don Bennett and Belinda Johnson proved to be talented emcees. The junior stunt featured Jimmy Stanley as Julius Caesar in a parody of Shakespeare's tragedy.

"The Honeymooners" was the theme of Junior Stunt Night on February 15, 1968, presented by the class of 1969. Buddy Carvalho, emcee, was a convincing Jackie Gleason. The judges awarded first prize to Jimmy Stanley and Joe Smothers, who portrayed a ventriloquist and his dummy in their stunt.

"Plot, Plot, Plot" is the song of the conspirators in the introduction to the junior stunt.

Caesar sings "I've Been Hurt" after Brutus has stabbed him fatally.

Marshals

The Junior Marshals consist of the five rising seniors with the highest academic standing. In 1967 they were Lloyd Smith, Karenne Parker, Carol Stewart, Joy Freeman, and Jack Byrd, Chief.

Girls' and Boys' State

Girls' and Boys' State provides an opportunity for rising seniors to learn and practice the mechanics of politics. Girls' State is held in Greensboro, and Boys' State is held in Winston-Salem. In 1967 the civic clubs of Dunn chose four boys and two girls to attend.

Football

Winning is becoming a tradition when it comes to football in Dunn. This year was no exception. With good coaching and hard playing, the Greenwaves had another great season. The 21-7 defeat of the Erwin Redskins on September 1 began a winning streak that lasted for seven weeks. Victories over Rockingham, Midway, Pine Forest, Hamlet, and Clinton left Dunn undefeated until Homecoming on October 20, when the Lumberton Pirates won a tough battle 12-0. Dunn squeezed by Raeford with a field goal, then suffered a disappointing loss to Sanford. The 'Waves ended the regular season in a burst of glory when they rallied to defeat highly ranked Scotland High in Laurinburg in an exciting game. Dunn finished the season in second place in the Southeastern 3-A Conference and went on to trounce Hope Mills, Pioneer 3-A champion, in a spectacular 29-13 playoff victory on the neutral field of Fayetteville. Hopes were high for the Eastern 3-A semifinals at Enloe High in Raleigh, but Dunn was unable to hold Northern Durham on the rain-soaked gridiron.

Basketball

Stuart Ennis goes up and scores for the Big Green.

With seven returning lettermen, the Greenwaves saw plenty of action during the 1967-68 season. After leading off with a 61 - 41 win over Benson, the Waves proceeded to compile a 10 - 10 regular season record. Although they lost to Rockingham 71 - 55 in the quarterfinals of the conference tournament, the Greenwaves gave their fans a thrilling season.

Girls' Basketball

First Row: Phyllis Langston, Debbie Tart, Betty Jean Dixon, Belinda Johnson, Kaye Corbin, Sherry West, Debbie Godwin. Second Row: Jane Barrett, Wanda Faircloth, Darnell Edwards, Cheryl Hill, Phoebe Johnson, Marsha Mann, Mary Godwin, Lisa Langley, Vicki Hawley, Brenda Pope.

This year the Dunn girls' basketball team continued its dominance of play in the Southeastern conference. Losing only to Benson and Erwin, the girls ran up a 16 - 2 overall record for another great year.

Marsha Mann scores for the Wavettes.

Co-Captains: Phoebe Johnson, Belinda Johnson.

Kaye Corbin shoots against Erwin.

Dunn's hard-working baseballers take a break.

With high hopes the Dunn High baseball team took the field for the 1968 season. Coach Varney's team had five all conference players and eleven lettermen returning for the '68 season. This year the team had a new assistant coach, Harry Sasser, who was a Little All-American shortstop in college. The '68 team opened its season in classic style with a 2-0 win over Hope Mills.

Track

Putting more emphasis on track, Coach Whitney Bradham was optimistic this spring about the 1968 track team. Besides increasing the interest in established track events, Coach

Bradham introduced the high hurdles and pole-vaulting into the field of events. Interest in track is growing and hopes are high for a great track season.

Junior Varsity Cheerleaders

Varsity Cheerleaders

With pep and enthusiasm, Dunn's cheerleaders generated interest in athletics at Dunn High. This year the cheerleaders, led by Vivian Tart, dropped several old cheers used in past years and added new and spirited cheers. The varsity cheerleaders put a lot of time and energy into their cheering, skits in assembly, and publicity for the Greenwaves.

A rousing cheer boosts hopes for a Greenwave victory over the Knights.

Athletic Honors

The Greenwaves of 1967-68 were fortunate to have many outstanding athletes on their teams. The athletes were also lucky, in the fact that they were picked by the coaches of other teams to the All-Conference and All-East squads. Here are the 1967-68 Greenwave men of might.

Football: Dew Forbes, Second Team, All-Conference, Honorable Mention, All-East; Johnny Hall, Second Team, All-Conference; Taylor Stephens, First Team, All-Conference; Van Fitchett, First Team, All-Conference; Robie Butler, First Team, All-Conference,

First Team, All-Conference; Johnny Hall, Second Team, All-Conference.

Junior Varsity Football

Dunn High's junior varsity eleven kept up its tradition of winning football in 1967. A squad of only eighteen boys, they gathered in a 7 - 2 record, Dunn's best junior varsity slate in a long time.

First Row: Chuck Turnage, Ronald King, Dwayne Wood, Phil Adams, Reggie Klontz, Jim Byrd, Bill Boyette, Tommy Dorman.
Second Row: Randy Stephenson, Jerry Tew, Phil Jones, Randy

Riddle, Coach Bobby Tart, Billy Tart, Ross Langston, Mike Neighbors, Dal Snipes, Jimmy Suggs.

Wayne Barbour rebounds against Lumberton.

Junior Varsity Basketball

Sparked by a late-season surge, the Green Ripples went all the way to the finals of the Southeastern 3-A tournament before losing to Sanford 53 - 40. They compiled a 9 - 8 regular season record.

Richard Johnson, Marty Mitchell, Bill Boyette, Billy Tart, Andy Ennis, Randy Stephenson, Randy Riddle, Manager.

Acknowledgments

The 1968 Echo would like to express its gratitude to the following:

The local businessmen who bought advertising space in the Echo.

The many students who helped to finance the Echo by buying it.

The administration, whose support is always appreciated, and members of the faculty who offered to help in any way.

Mr. Bob Chappell, Hunter representative, for professional guidance in planning the layout.

Hunter Publishing Company in Winston-Salem, North Carolina.

School Pictures, Incorporated, in Greensboro, North Carolina.

Mr. Buzz Pope of the Dunn Dispatch for practical advice in taking, developing, and printing pictures, and for permission to use some of his photographs, which appear on pages 2, 8, 10, 11, 140, 141, 142, 154, 155, 160, and 192.

Mr. Harvey Eldridge, Jr., Echo adviser, for his constant encouragement, advice, and moral support, and for his excellent photography.

The members of the 1968 Echo staff who solicited ads, planned layout, edited and cropped pictures, and wrote, typed, and proofread copy. They cannot be thanked enough for their unselfish willingness to work long hours and for their loyal and consistent work throughout the year.

J.R.F.

The 1968 Echo was printed by the linotype process by Hunter Publishing Company in Winston-Salem, North Carolina. The paper is dull enamel. The type style is Times Roman with Bold. The cover is hand-tooled leatherette and was designed by Kingskraft and made by Universal Bookbindery. This is the twenty-first edition of the Echo and contains 192 pages.

... that's the way it really is.
